

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Juice4u is a fresh fruit juice manufacturer in London. As an expanding company it is imperative that all machinery is maintained at the highest level. With this in mind we were happy that Mr. Blackburn was recommended to us.

Following an initial consultation it was evident that Mr. Blackburn's approach to his work is based on assisting the development of the company. Whereas other engineers whose services we have employed have merely come to fix an immediate issue, Mr. Blackburn showed a willingness to sit down and discuss short, medium and long-term solutions, thus exploring areas of efficiency, quality and economy. Although he has worked for us contractually, he is generous in his commitment to the company, always happy to help on the phone with any queries or ideas I may have, and conversely contacting me in his own time with suggestions and contributions of his own.

The work that Mr. Blackburn has undertaken for Juice4u has always been to the highest standard. He is a highly skilled and conscientious worker and without hesitation I would recommend him to any prospective client.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Ashley Woodhams", is written over a large, faint watermark of a circular logo that contains the letters "R" and "es" and the text "Est 1990".
